

CS Masters' Thesis Defense

Title: Email based FAQ web application
Speaker: Mehul Shah
Date: Wednesday, April 11, 2012
Time: 9:00 a.m.
Location: GMCS 405
Thesis advisor: Dr Joseph Lewis

Abstract:

This thesis deals with development of FAQ web application for students, using Grails and Groovy technology. It is an interface between professors and students wherein, professors provide information in their area of expertise through emails and student can access the same information via this easily accessible web application. Since professors have direct control on the system data, students get accurate, dependable and appropriate information which is one of the major concern. Professors also have the option to communicate with students using real time alert system. Furthermore, students can do keyword search and share the data with others ensuring the flow of knowledge. Using Grails and groovy for creating this application facilitates the development of good data security.