Brighub is looking for an exceptional and passionate recent computer science graduates and students to join our technical team. This internship is part-time or full-time position in our West Hollywood office based in LA.

Brighub, www.bringhub.com, lets consumers shop at the moment of inspiration and discovery through its proprietary universal cart technology. The bringhub SaaS is a full-featured solution for publishers to monetize their media and for retailers turn the entire web into a marketplace for selling their product(s) and reaching consumers at the peak of their interest -- while they are enjoying content.

Internship/Job Description- Work closely with Brighub Development team to plan and support ongoing product and platform development initiatives.

Candidate Requirements- Must be currently enrolled in college or have recently graduated (within one year) as a computer science major. Familiarity the LAMP stack is a huge plus. Outstanding verbal and written communication skills and the ability to work individually or on a team. You should be detail-oriented, quick learner, meticulous, having strong organization and time management skills with the ability to prioritize multiple projects.

Interested applicants should email albert@bringhub.com and include a plain text resume and cover letter.