Computer Science Department SDSU
Could you let your students and alumni know about this teaching opportunity? It would be great to set up a partnership with your graduate program. We could provide part-time work for your students as a win/win for both schools if you are interested. I have classes available year-round as we are on the quarter system.

The Art Institute of California-San Diego is seeking applicants for adjunct Web Design and Interactive Media instructors for the spring quarter. Classes start April 7th and occur once a week for four hours for eleven weeks. The school can design a schedule to meet applicant’s needs. Classes are scheduled Monday through Friday 8-12, 1-5, and 6-10. The Art Institute pays a competitive teaching rate of $50 dollars an hour and the Adobe Cloud is provided at a rate of $10 for the year.

Please send a short email and resume to Corey J. Willis, Design Director, at cwillis@aii.edu

Thank you,

Corey J. Willis
Director of Design
The Art Institute of California-San Diego